Welcome to Creativ Company

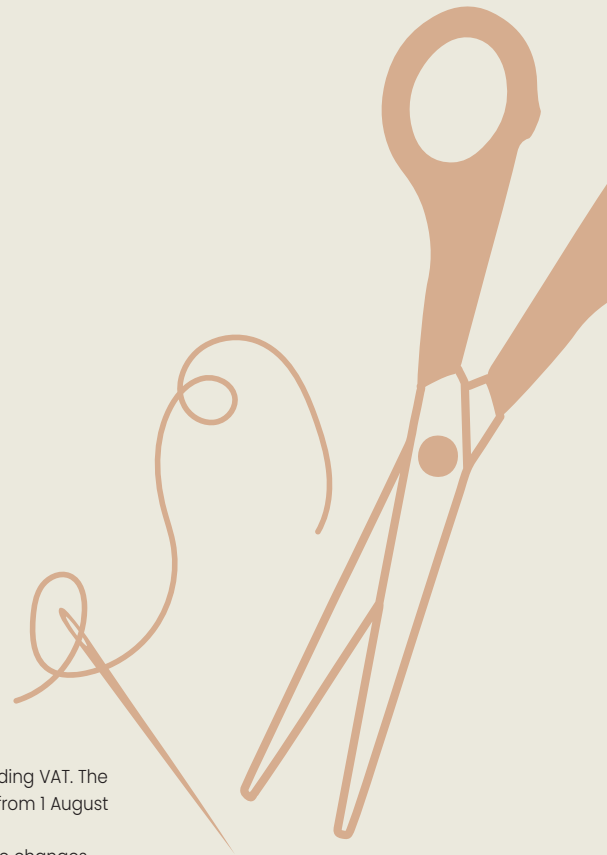

Welcome to our new main catalogue, which this year contains lots of new creative products, ideas for your marketing and even more creative guides that you are free to use with your customers.

This is only part of our extensive range, and you can always find more products, pictures and videos on our website. Here, you will also find our large archive that's packed with inspiration and creative techniques.

We also recommend keeping an eye out for our seasonal catalogues that we publish throughout the year. Here, you will be the first to have access to the latest news in creativity, crafting and store concept presentations.

We hope you enjoy reading all about it.

Best regards
From all of us at Creativ Company

“Our goal is to make it easy and fun for people to develop and find joy by creating things.”

Without creativity the world would still be flat!

We believe that creativity is the key to developing a world where progress and growth is sustainable. We know that it is people who have the ability to connect specialist knowledge to a creative approach, who can find ground-breaking solutions to the challenges that we face.

Curious, creative and playful children are tomorrow's adults. They will find new ways to research and solve everyday problems locally and globally. Without creativity, the wheel would never have been invented. Without creativity, the world would still be flat.

At Creativ Company, we focus on people, and our goal is to make it easy and fun for people to develop and find joy by creating things. We do this by providing a wide range of products, lots of inspiration for creativity and easy access to the whole world of creativity, both for our users and our partners.

We want our employees to be as different and diverse as the products we sell. Physical, mental or social challenges should not prevent someone from becoming part of an excellent workplace. This is why 10-15% of our employees are employed on special terms. In addition, we have helped over 700 people from our local area, through focused job training courses since our start in 2000.

Our own creative approach means that we have a different way of operating and developing our company. We do business with everyone and love to share our knowledge and competencies with people who will help creativity to grow. We see the world in colours.

Use creativity in your marketing

Use our creative ideas to inspire your customers and generate sales. Customer analysis shows that sales are increasing significantly among customers who were previously inspired by a creative idea or technique. We give you access to a number of tools that make it easy for you to bring creativity into your store and online marketing.

See three specific examples on the next page.

You support social responsibility

By shopping with us, you're helping people who have a hard time gaining a foothold in the labour market. In our special 'Service Centre' department, we offer a special work experience course for people with physical, mental or social challenges, so that they have a chance to move forward into meaningful work. We are proud to say that this has already helped a great many people.

At Creativ Company, however, we don't just help people to move on: we also hire a number of the people we get to know through the 'Service Centre'. The aim is for 10-15% of our permanent staff to be employed on special, more considerate terms.

Environment, product safety and quality

You are assured complete peace of mind when you purchase products from us. In our development and selection of products for the range, we place the same high demands on our suppliers and their products as we do on ourselves.

To help us with this, we have a specialised team who work every day to ensure that we comply with all the applicable as well as new legal requirements that arise constantly within our field.

To support this process, we have obtained environmental and quality certification in accordance with ISO 14001 and ISO 9001.

Sustainable products

At Creativ Company, we want to contribute to a more sustainable future. To this end, we are working hard to combine creativity and learning in relation to the UN's 17 Sustainable Development Goals.

We are constantly looking for more sustainable alternatives to our product range, and continue to make an active effort.

Even a small step in a more sustainable direction can make a positive difference to the world.

Your assurance of secure and efficient order handling

When you place your orders with us, we take care of them quickly and efficiently via our state-of-the-art logistics system. We are continually expanding our warehouse capacity and streamlining our processes, most recently with the installation of Autostore, which is a fully automatic picking system.

In addition to increased flexibility, the new system helps improve reliability of supply and minimise errors in dispatches.

Expand your range with thousands of items

If you would like to expand your online range, let's sit down together to assess the possibilities for a tailor-made drop shipping solution. Over the years, we have gained extensive experience as a supplier to various European online retailers and we look forward to discussing with you.

Which glue should I choose?

Getting started

For paper and card

We offer a variety of glue qualities that suitable for paper and card. One of these is school glue, which comes in a bottle. Another is hobby glue, which can also be used for other materials, for example EVA foam, textiles and polystyrene. We also supply a glue marker, which is a liquid glue in pen format with a felt tip – ideal for small details and easy to handle. It can also be a good idea to go for a glue stick, which has a fairly firm consistency and is thus less messy than liquid glue. It can also be applied in a thin layer, which reduces the risk of bubbles in the final result. Along with double-sided adhesive tape, these are all suitable for scrapbooking, especially if you are also adding photos. Just make sure you choose acid-free and lignin-free paper or cardboard, otherwise the combination of the glue and the wrong paper quality may gradually start to discolour your photos.

For decoupage and making papier-mâché

Decoupage varnish has been developed specifically for fixing paper and functions as both glue and varnish. What's more, the product is water-resistant once dry, meaning that the decorated item can be cleaned with a damp cloth if necessary in the future. This is a big advantage for decorative objects and decorative accessories!

Choose between different qualities depending on the material you're planning on sticking the paper onto (cardboard/wood, textiles and glass/porcelain). If a water-resistant surface is not required, we recommend lacquer glue or VTR glue. Along with wallpaper paste, the latter products are also suitable for making papier-mâché (multiple layers of glued-together paper).

For jewellery

If you're making or repairing jewellery, power glue is the obvious choice. Not least because this glue type is extremely strong and also due to its almost instant drying time. Choose between several qualities, each in a small, handy bottle with either a brush in the lid or a practical dispensing nozzle.

Both make fine motor activities a little easier when gluing small beads, gemstones, thin wires and chains, silicone cord etc. The extremely popular and cheaper glue, Clear Multi Glue Gel is also good for jewellery, but you should expect longer drying times with this type.

For smooth items such as glass etc.

Remember that you'll need a very strong adhesive if you wish to glue together items with a completely smooth, hard surface or that weigh a considerable amount. For example, when riveting together ceramic and porcelain pieces, or if you need to affix mosaic stones to glass and metal. All these types of adhesive are universal and can in principle be used for all applications, but each has their own individual advantages that you should take into consideration. The most powerful of them is the fast-drying, two-component epoxy adhesive, while the most environmentally-friendly is the slow-drying Clear Multi Glue Gel. Mounting glue also dries slowly, but it is 100% water resistant.

For natural materials and figures made from craft materials

For bonding light materials such as polystyrene, cotton wool, wood, chenille pipe cleaners and plastic, then we recommend the universal and slow-drying types of glue in a bottle such as Clear Multi Glue Gel. For natural collages made with leaves, for example, we recommend a slow-drying lacquer glue. If you want a shorter drying time, choose a hot glue gun, which is easy to handle and uses special glue sticks. The glue gun is available in two types, which melt the glue at a low or high temperature respectively. The low temperature glue gun is suitable for gluing smaller pieces made from the aforementioned materials. However, we recommend the high temperature glue gun for gluing larger pieces (the higher temperature means a slightly longer drying time but also a stronger result).

We also stock glue for:

- Wood Glue D2, page 107
- Textile Glue, page 107
- Bookbinding glue, page 107
- Fix Glue, page 107
- Beeswax, page 109
- Sticky Base, page 503

A tip!

If you are in doubt about the choice of glue, because you are mixing different materials, you should always go for the stronger glue.

Which paint should I choose?

Getting started

For art on canvas

We recommend acrylic paint specially developed for use on canvas. Acrylic is characterised by its thick, pasty consistency, which makes it possible to apply a number techniques, for example filling.

At the same time, it also has a high content of light-fast colour pigment, which prevents the painting's colours from fading in sunlight.

For decorating wood, papier-mâché etc.

Objects made from wood, clay, terracotta, plaster gauze, pulp and papier-mâché, for example, are absorbent. This makes it important to ensure that the paint covers well, regardless of whether the object is light or dark. Our water-based craft paints do exactly that. They are all fully opaque with a high viscosity and dry evenly and waterproof, so you can wipe your finished piece clean with a damp cloth. In fact, all you need to decide is what finish you want and whether you want to apply the paint with a marker, which is excellent for making detailed lines and patterns.

For painting projects for children

We recommend paints that are water-based. You can let even small children use the products in this category when experimenting with the art of painting. The paint is suitable for use on thin card, cardboard and paint boards, and is equally popular for painting on light-coloured items such as plaster gauze, pulp, polystyrene and wood (darker items should be primed first). All you need to decide is what effect the paint will have.

For decorating textiles

Paints for textile decoration have a special feature. When the paint is dry – often after ironing – it retains its bright colour, even after the textile piece has been washed. Choose between different types depending on the purpose and fabric type, as well as whether you want to apply the colour with a brush or with a marker. You can also decorate textiles with special 3D paint for dots or text in relief, for example. This does not require fixing, and the finished piece can then be carefully washed by hand.

For decorating glass and porcelain

Paint developed for use on glass and porcelain adheres well to most smooth surfaces. Some types will even be safe for dishwashers after being heat-fixed in a conventional oven, while others are fine to wash with mild detergent by hand.

In addition, you need to decide which finish you want and whether you want to apply the paint with a brush or marker. Glass and porcelain paint is also suitable for use on plastic, for example, as well as untreated, light terracotta.

Which crayons and colouring pencils should I choose?

Getting started

For drawing and colouring

Crayons are great for thick strokes and colouring larger surfaces, while coloured pencils allow you to create fine details. We recommend hard and waterproof crayons and coloured pencils for drawing and colouring in the traditional sense. If you want to work with techniques where you work in the colour with your fingers, water or tools, you should choose soft and water-soluble crayons/pencils respectively. Depending on requirements for light fastness, saturation or specific colours, you have several options.

For the transfer technique of frottage

One of the great advantages of crayons is that they can be used for many different techniques. This includes frottage, where you take a piece of chalk or graphite/pencil and shade on a piece of paper over something textured/structured.

This could be a wooden floor, a leaf or a coin. The impression from whatever you rubbed over will be transferred onto the paper. You'll get the sharpest results using hard crayons.

For the technique of scratching and rubbing

If you want to work further with this effect by scratching or rubbing at the colours, you need to use soft crayons such as oil pastels or chalk pastels. The soft chalk pastels are very porous and are therefore easily rubbed out in a thin layer with your fingers. Oil pastels have a soft, greasy consistency that can be rubbed together and built up to form a thick layer upon which motifs can be scratched with a pointed object.

For a 'melted' effect

With their soft, greasy texture, oil pastels are perfect for using when you want to transfer designs by melting them into place. Method: Draw and paint with oil pastels on paper or sandpaper and place your finished sheet with the motif facing downwards against a flat object such as wood, drawing paper or cardboard. Press onto the motif with a hot iron and the design will be transferred (or typically a mirror image of it). For this technique, it is important to use oil pastels.

For watercolour (dry on dry)

Water-soluble crayons and coloured pencils can be toned out and blended to make new colours after you have drawn and painted with them (dry on dry). This is done with water and a brush, which is why it is important that you work on watercolour paper rather than ordinary paper, which will curl up when wet. Water-resistant (wax) crayons and coloured pencils, on the other hand, are not affected by water and will not run. If you want to work with masking, it can be a good idea to work with both types, as the water-resistant crayons will stay put and not run into the water-soluble crayons or pencils when you brush them with water.

Which marker should I choose?

Getting started

For drawing and colouring on paper and in colouring books

For children who want to draw and paint with a pen, we recommend a pen of CE-marked quality. For example a water-based type with a fixed felt tip, which is available in both thick and thin tips and in a wide range of colours. Choose between a wide variety of types (including ones with glitter), all of them perfect for use on white paper, thin card and cardboard. For younger children down to 2 years we recommend a marker that is particularly easy to wash off both skin and clothing should accidents happen.

For projects that require fully opaque colour

Do you want to add details, patterns or text to a painting, or perhaps you want to try painting on stones? If so then the best results are obtained with a marker filled with paint rather than liquid paint and a brush, which is much more demanding to apply.

These markers are just as easy to use as ordinary markers. The paint in the marker is a water-based acrylic paint and is available in several qualities, from fully opaque to transparent with glitter, as well as many different line thicknesses.

Our marker for glass and porcelain has the added advantage that, once heat fixed in a conventional oven, the decorated item is then safe to be washed in the dishwasher. Glass and porcelain markers are available in semi-opaque colours with and without glitter, in fully opaque colours and as contour markers. We recommend fully opaque colours for painting on dark objects. You can also choose between a conventional fixed felt tip and pump-action felt tip, where the paint flows to the tip when the pen is shaken/pressed up and down. If younger children are decorating something, marker pens with a fixed felt tip are the easiest for them to control, because there is no risk of the paint running. Otherwise, you can actually slow down the effect of running colours in a design if you colour in the lines of the design first, for example in black with a contour marker, and then leave to dry.

For decorating textiles

Markers for textile decoration have a special feature: When the decoration is dry – often after ironing – it retains its brightness after the textile piece has been washed. Textile markers are available with both a conventional fixed felt tip in several thicknesses and with a pump-action felt tip. For younger children, we recommend a conventional marker with a fixed felt tip, as these types don't tend to run. First and foremost however you should choose a marker according to the colour of the surface you intend to write on. For light textiles you can use semi-opaque colours, while you get the best results on dark textiles with a fully opaque textile marker.

To write with

We supply a variety of markers that are designed to be used for writing, from art markers to calligraphy, for example, to the office's most important writing pen. We also have markers for making illustrations on flipchart paper or for use on whiteboards. If children are writing with a pen, we recommend a water-based quality rather than a permanent/alcohol-based one, which is water-resistant and covers almost all materials. This type is often used, for example, to write names on lunchboxes etc.

Be creative on stretched canvas

Paint with acrylic paint

With acrylic paint for canvas, you can create different expressions, depending on the tools and techniques you use (e.g. paintbrush, painting knife or scratching technique). You can paint with or without making a sketch first.

Decorate with Structure Paste

Create beautiful textures and relief effects on your canvas with Structure Paste applied with a spatula, painting knife or similar. After drying, add diluted or undiluted paint, depending on the desired expression.

Cover with modelling compounds

Create exciting figures, surfaces and 3D effects with the self-hardening modelling compounds Silk Clay, Foam Clay and Pearl Clay, which mould and stick easily to the rough surface of the canvas.

Decorate with pouring fluid

Create exciting marbling effects with pouring fluid, which can be mixed with several different colours of acrylic paint to make them more fluid. Pour the multicoloured mixture over the canvas and watch how the colours blend together.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish

Add fun and exciting effects to your painting by gluing a collage of cut-outs onto the canvas using decoupage glue/varnish. The cut-outs can be photocopies, photos, glossy decoupage paper, napkins etc.

Stretched Canvas

Be creative on cardboard

Glue and cover with Sticky Base

Use Sticky Base just as you would normal glue to stick individual decorative materials onto a matte piece of cardboard, or knead sequins, mini beads, glitter etc. into the Sticky Base compound before pressing it down onto the cardboard to cover it.

Cover with modelling compounds

Create exciting figures, surfaces and 3D effects with the self-hardening modelling compounds Silk Clay, Foam Clay and Pearl Clay, which mould and stick easily to the matte surface of the cardboard.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish

You can use decoupage glue/varnish to decorate the surface with decoupage paper, napkins, glazed paper, patchwork fabric etc. Choose different decoupage varnishes depending on the effect you wish to create (matte, glossy, glitter or for fabric).

Paint with craft paint

Create different decorations with craft paint on cardboard. Choose the type of paint depending on the effect you wish to create, for example glossy, metallic, glitter, limestone etc. The paint can be applied with either a paintbrush, foam brush, sponge or stamp.

Draw over craft paint with marker pens

Draw details on both white and unbleached cardboard with water-based, opaque markers (e.g. Plus Color markers). Because the markers are completely opaque, you can draw the designs with a pencil first, as the pencil marks will be covered by the marker.

Drum boxes Drums of cardboard. The drums have removable lids so they can be used as boxes, D: 11+13 cm, H: 11+13 cm, white.

Be creative on wood

Decorate with an electric wood burning tool

Burn patterns and text into the wood's surface with an electric wood burning tool. The size of the needle determines the width of the line. If you like, you can paint the wood afterwards with a thin layer of paint so that the burnt areas can still be seen.

Paint with acrylic paint

Decorate the wooden pieces with an opaque acrylic paint, for example Plus Color craft paint. Apply with a brush or sponge and add details with stamps or the Plus Color marker pen variant.

Decorate with pouring fluid

Create exciting marbling effects with pouring fluid. Mix the pouring fluid with acrylic paint to make the paint more liquid and pour the multicoloured mixture over the surface of the wood so that the colours mix and run together.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish

You can use decoupage glue/varnish to decorate the surface with decoupage paper, napkins, glazed paper, patchwork fabric etc. Choose different decoupage varnishes depending on the effect you wish to create (matte, glossy, glitter or for fabric). You can paint the wood first if you like.

Cover with modelling compounds

Create exciting figures, surfaces and 3D effects with the self-hardening modelling compounds Silk Clay, Foam Clay and Pearl Clay, which mould and stick easily to the absorbent surface of the wood.

Be creative on porcelain

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish for porcelain

Use decoupage glue/varnish together with decoupage paper, napkins, pressed flowers, patchwork fabric etc. to give the piece a new look. Remember to clean and dry the porcelain before decorating. After decorating and once it is dried, the piece can be cured in the oven, which will help the decoupage last longer.

Paint with porcelain paint

Porcelain is ideal for decorating with different types of porcelain paint (transparent, semi-opaque or opaque). Apply the paint with a brush, stamp or sponge. Finally, you can cure the piece in the oven so that it can handle mild dishwashing.

Draw onto the glass with glass and porcelain markers

Draw patterns, text and designs onto the porcelain surface using glass and porcelain markers. Remember to wipe the surface clean before decorating. Finally, you can cure the piece in the oven so that it can handle mild dishwashing.

Decorate with marbling paint

Give your porcelain pieces a beautiful marbling effect using marbling paint. Choose between different colour combinations, which you can drip onto the surface of the water in a tub before gently dipping the porcelain piece into the water.

Draw with chalk marker

Create and recreate the most beautiful decorations on the porcelain with chalk markers. The chalk marker can easily be removed with a damp cloth when you no longer want the decoration or simply want to renew it.

Be creative on plastic

Paint with acrylic paint

Plastic items with a slightly chalky surface are ideal for decorating with an opaque acrylic paint, for example Plus Color craft paint. Apply with a brush or sponge and add details with stamps or the Plus Color marker pen variant.

Paint with watercolour paints

Plastic items with a slightly chalky or velvety surface can be decorated with watercolour paint. Apply with a brush and add any fine details with a marker. Watercolour paint is available in liquid form, in a palette with individual half pans and as a marker.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish

You can use decoupage glue/varnish to decorate the surface with decoupage paper, napkins, glazed paper, patchwork fabric etc. Choose different decoupage varnishes depending on the effect you wish to create (matte, glossy, glitter or for fabric).

Paint with varnish paint

Create transparent and glossy effects with the water-based A-Colour gloss varnish paint, which bonds well to smooth surfaces such as plastics. Apply with a brush or sponge.

Decorate using Clear Multi Glue Gel

Decorate your plastic items with different materials using Clear Multi Glue Gel. The glue is great for sticking yarn, fabric, leather, polystyrene, wood, glass, paper and many more materials to the plastic.

Polystyrene Balls

Versatile lightweight polystyrene balls.

Be creative on glass

Decorate with glass glue and glitter

With liquid glass glue, it's easy to stick things like glitter and sequins onto glass objects. Simply pour the glue onto the object you wish to cover and gently roll back and forth until the glue is distributed evenly. Then sprinkle over different coloured glitter so that it settles in the glue. Shake off any excess glitter.

Draw onto the glass with glass and porcelain markers

Draw patterns, text and designs onto the glass surface using glass and porcelain markers. Remember to wipe the surface clean before decorating. Finally, you can cure the piece in the oven so that it can handle mild dishwashing.

Paint with glass and porcelain paint

Create beautiful decorations with different types of glass and porcelain paint. Apply the paint with an ordinary paint brush or dab on using a sponge brush. Depending on the type of paint, the item must/can then be cured in the oven so it can handle being washed.

Draw with chalk marker

Create and recreate the most beautiful decorations with chalk markers. As the marker can be removed with a damp cloth, it is ideal for window decorations, for example. Draw freely from your imagination or place a sketch on the other side of the glass and use that as a guide.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish for glass

Use decoupage glue/varnish together with decoupage paper, napkins, pressed flowers, patchwork fabric etc. to give the piece a new look. Remember to clean and dry the glass before decorating. After decorating and once it is dried, the piece can be cured in the oven, which will help the decoupage last longer.

Be creative on terracotta

Paint with acrylic paint

Decorate the terracotta with an opaque acrylic paint, for example Plus Color craft paint. Apply with a brush or sponge and add details with stamps or the Plus Color marker pen variant. Remember to varnish any unpainted surfaces first before drawing on them with the marker.

Decoupage with decoupage glue/varnish

You can use decoupage glue/varnish to decorate the surface with decoupage paper, napkins, glazed paper, patchwork fabric etc. Choose different decoupage varnishes depending on the effect you wish to create (matte, glossy, glitter or for fabric).

Paint with varnish paint

Create transparent and glossy effects with the water-based A-Colour gloss varnish paint, which bonds well to slightly absorbent surfaces such as terracotta. Apply with a brush or sponge.

Decorate using Clear Multi Glue Gel

Decorate your terracotta items with different materials using Clear Multi Glue Gel. The glue is great for sticking yarn, fabric, leather, polystyrene, wood, glass, paper and many more materials to the terracotta.

Cover with modelling compounds

Create exciting figures, surfaces and 3D effects with the self-hardening modelling compounds Silk Clay, Foam Clay and Pearl Clay, which mould and stick easily to the rough surface of the terracotta.

Be creative on textiles

Paint with textile paint

Create all kinds of decorations with different types of textile paint, for example semi-opaque or opaque, and with mother-of-pearl or glitter effects. Apply with brushes or stamps and fix with an iron after decorating to enable the piece to be washed.

Draw and colour with textile markers

Draw your own motifs or colour in pre-printed motifs with textile markers, which are available in many colours and variations, including neon and glitter. Remember to fix with an iron after decorating so the piece can be washed.

Colour with batik dyes

Add colour to white textiles with batik dyes and techniques such as dip dye and shibori as well as tie dye and twist and coil techniques. Make a dye bath and remember to add ordinary table salt as well as soda ash (sodium carbonate) so that the different coloured dyes can bind to the textiles and handle machine washing.

Decorate with textile medium

Textile medium transforms all kinds of liquid paint into textile paints (e.g. Plus Color craft paint and liquid watercolour paint). Mix the medium 1:1 into the paint you want to use and apply it to light-coloured fabric. After ironing, the item can be machine washed.

Decorate with iron-on foil

An iron-on foil allows you to add glittery decorations easily to your textiles. Simply cut the motifs you want to use out of the iron-on fabric and iron them onto the textile piece. The decoration is machine washable (though not suitable for tumble drying).

Which modelling compound should I choose?

Getting started

For figures that don't require curing

We recommend choosing a soft modelling compound if the children will be the ones making the figures. These compounds are very easy to shape and are especially suitable for play and sensory stimulation for children. They're so simple to use that all you need to decide is what design and finish you want to work with. Cheese wax, on the other hand, is better suited for older children and adults, as it requires heating before use. It is used for traditional modelling as well as for covering wire skeletons and frames.

For figures and small decorative objects that harden at room temperature

Modelling smaller figures really exercises those fine motor skills. So it's a big help for children in particular if the modelling compound does not require too much working and kneading first, and if it can be easily attached to other materials. For a colourful look we recommend Clay (Silk Clay, Foam Clay etc.) products, which come in different textures. If you're looking for a more traditional clay expression however, we recommend self-hardening clay.

For figures and pieces that will be fired in a kiln

Nature clay is used for figures and decorative pieces that you want to fire to maximise strength and to enable you to add glazes and other finishes to them. We offer nature clay (earthenware) in a variety of colours. They can withstand 1000-1300 °C (electric ceramic kiln, raku firing on a pit fire etc.). Of course, it's also possible to simply allow objects made from nature clay to harden at room temperature just like self-hardening clay if you're looking for a raw look and a porous construction.

For sculptural work/covering pieces

Sculptures built around a wire frame, polystyrene and so on can be covered with modelling compound, of which there are plenty to choose from. If you want a colourful, soft and flexible material, we recommend our Foam and Silk Clay products. If, on the other hand you're looking for a more raw, natural expression, we recommend concrete, papier-mâché or plaster gauze.

For jewellery and extremely small decorative objects that require curing in the oven

These types of clay are particularly suitable for creating extra fine details for beads and pendants for jewellery, for example, as well as small figures to decorate a storage box or similar. Some types are better suited for older children and adults as they require warming up before use, while others are designed especially for children, and are ready to use and easy to work with. All modelled objects need heat curing in a conventional oven, after which they become hard with a smooth structure and a beautiful finish.

Important to know when ordering buy 6 packs.

Minimum order at the multi purchase price

For most of the items, a minimum order quantity/number is stated that is required to achieve the quoted price. The price quoted is the price per pcs/pack. A multi-price discount has already been deducted. Please note that the price only applies to the purchase of the same item number (for example, the same colour).

12 pcs/1 pack

Contents

If an item contains more than one unit, the contents are stated in relation to the price. If you buy an item, where '12 pcs/1 pack' is indicated, it means that you purchase one pack containing 12 pcs.

FSC® – Responsible use of wood and forest resources

The FSC® label on our products means that they are made from materials from FSC®-certified forests and other responsible sources. FSC® (Forest Stewardship Council®) is a global non-profit certification scheme. FSC® sets requirements for social, environmental and economically sustainable forestry. Read more about FSC® at www.FSC.org. Look for the FSC® logo, which is placed next to our FSC® labelled products.

CE mark

The product complies with current EU legislation for 'Toys' or 'Electrical and electronic products'. If a warning text is attached to the toy, it can be viewed on our website.

The Blue Angel

The Blue Angel is a recognised German ecolabel. Products marked with this label are made from 100% recycled paper and are only awarded to those products that consider the environment to the greatest extent possible, from production to disposal.

Food safe materials

Suitable for contact with food according to EU regulation 1935/2004.

Oeko-Tex 100

Oeko-Tex 100 is a health label for textiles that guarantees the product meets all the strictest requirements for dyeing, azo dyes, pesticides and preservatives and complies with all applicable regulations. It is not an ecolabel but rather a health label, which means that the emphasis is on the end user.

The Swan Ecolabel

The Swan Ecolabel is the official sustainability ecolabel for the Nordic countries for non-food products. Products with this label indicate that the product is among the most environmentally friendly in that particular product category.
